

FRED CORNELISON AGAIN ARRESTED

Man Acquitted of Robbing Express Company Held on Technical Charge.

DAMAGE SUIT IS PENDING

Case Was to Have Been Called Wednesday—Two Women Also Held in Florida.

A suit for damages in the sum of $50,000, filed by Fred K. Cornelison against the Southern Express company, Chief of Police W. H. Hackett, and others, as an aftermath to his arrest and trial on the charge of robbing a Southern Express truck of $40,900 on the night of Nov. 22, 1916, was set for trial in circuit court next Wednesday.

George W. Chamlee, of counsel for Cornelison, stated Thursday morning that the arrest of his client at Titusville, Fla., on Tuesday night looked like an effort to force Cornelison to postpone the damage case, or to get it continued at this term of court, which, according to Mr. Chamlee, would delay final termination of the suit one year.

In his damage suit, which was filed in circuit court on March 16, 1917, Cornelison charged false imprisonment and malicious prosecution and sought to recover the sum of $25,000 in each count. The suit was against the express company, Samuel F. Knowles, superintendent of that company; R. A. Turner, Jr., and Chief Hackett.

It was explained by Attorney Chamlee that Cornelison's father had been making preparations for the hearing next week and wrote his son to be here at that time. It is understood that Cornelison telegraphed his father that he was planning to start home Wednesday (yesterday).

Mr. Chamlee stated that Cornelison owned an automobile in Chattanooga, and as he (Chamlee) had been informed, has been running a rent service car, carrying tourists at and near Jacksonville. The attorney stated that of the people who were riding many were, no doubt, millionaires and would pay big money for their transportation.

"The story published here today," he said, "must be credited as an unverified report, and since we have had no opportunity of conferring with Fred Cornelison we have no information about the matter in Florida."

Mr. Chamlee said that Cornelison was in his office about three weeks ago. "I believe in this man's innocence," the attorney declared, "but if they find the money or any part of it there is no one here who would help them any quicker to recover the balance than myself. This man was grilling when he was arrested, but through the third degree and the sweat box and finally tried in the courts and he told in substance the same story all the time. He convinced the community and the jury that he was innocent and it will take some powerful power now to change that opinion."

"My suspicion is that, like a great many other men, he has become embroiled with a woman and that this is his punishment for that offense and not for the express robbery."

Cornelison did reside east of the ridge and he has a wife and some little children. His father, Frank M. Cornelison, served as the sheriff's force for some time and has lived here for many years, his son having been born and reared here.

It is thought here that the Miss Ward, who was detained as a witness against Cornelison and Mrs. Mayfield, is a Pinkerton detective.

Local detectives did not know Mrs. Mayfield, and efforts to learn something about her were unsuccessful.

RAILROAD MAN WAS ALMOST DOWN AND OUT

Tried About Everything, but Up to Time He Took Acid Iron

Mineral Health Was Extremely Poor.

TELLS WHAT IT DID

"My friends know the condition I have been in for a long time. They know I've suffered with rheumatism, stomach trouble, nervousness, and a general breakdown of my health, and they know how hard I've tried to get relief and my old strength back with doctors and medicines these many years."

"I used to ache all over and with terrific pain; I couldn't rest for days and nights at a time. At such times my whole system seemed to go wrong and my stomach would act up and nothing would agree with me."

Then one day I heard a man telling about this wonderful Acid Iron Mineral discovered down on a farm in Mississippi which was just beginning to be successfully filtered, concentrated and bottled under the famous "A-I-M" trade mark and I bought a bottle, and today I'm praising it sky-high because it has helped me more than anything I have ever used. I haven't been bothered with the old ailments and nervousness, and in fact, I am practically a well man now," declared D. Dawson, a well-known car repairer with the Norfolk & Western railroad, Roanoke, Va.

Now many men shuffle down the street, pale, pecked and half-nourished-looking, who simply need the bolstering and upbuilding help of good old natural iron, and here it is, cheap as dirt, powerful, yet harmless, and what a great big change it does make in a man's feelings and looks.

ARREST OF CORNELISON.

(Special to The News.) Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 28.—Detectives arrested Mrs. Anna Mayfield, of Chattanooga, with her two little daughters and her sister, Miss Ella Ward, of Birmingham, here Tuesday night, just as they were about to depart for Chattanooga. The arrests were made upon request of Sheriff J. P. Brown, of Brevard county, Florida, who charged Mrs. Mayfield with adultery by living with Cornelison in a beautiful home recently purchased by him at Cocoa, Fla.

Miss Ward is being held as a witness. The arrests followed information obtained by Pinkerton detectives, who have been shadowing Cornelison for some time.

The women arrested here were closely questioned by federal officers, who intend bringing charges of white slavery against Cornelison and Mrs. Mayfield.

The women are believed to have had secreted $8,000 either on their person or in their baggage. Federal officers seized civil papers on the prisoners for seizure of all baggage and other property.

Cornelison is under arrest at Titusville, Fla. He and the women are suspected of trying to evade officers when Cornelison was caught.

The grandmother of the children has brought habeas corpus proceedings to get them from their mother.

All parties will probably be held in connection with the disappearance of $40,000 from a Southern Express company truck in Chattanooga. The women were taken by officers to Titusville last night.

K. Cornelison, then a driver for the Southern Express company, left the Ninth street office with a truck containing many thousands of dollars. His destination was the Terminal station and he started out from the rear of the express office on Ninth street through the Western & Atlantic railway yards. A short time after taking his departure he returned to the Ninth street office and reported that he had been held up and his truck robbed. The back of his pants were bloody. His story was that two well-dressed men boarded his truck in the railway yards, rode a short distance, and suddenly commanded him to halt. He said a revolver was pointed at him by one of the men, while the other proceeded to rob the truck. He further said that after the robbery he was struck in the head by one of the robbers; that the two men then made their way through the railway yards in the direction of Hooker street, one of them carrying a sack containing the money.

Questioned, cross-questioned and questioned again, Cornelison told practically the same story. A short time after he had reported the robbery and been questioned by detectives, express officers and others he was taken to police headquarters and detained. Then followed further examinations.

"I believe in this man's innocence," the attorney declared, "but if they find the money or any part of it there is no one here who would help them any quicker to recover the balance than myself. This man was grilling when he was arrested, but through the third degree and the sweat box and finally tried in the courts and he told in substance the same story all the time. He convinced the community and the jury that he was innocent and it will take some powerful power now to change that opinion."

"My suspicion is that, like a great many other men, he has become embroiled with a woman and that this is his punishment for that offense and not for the express robbery."

Cornelison did reside east of the ridge and he has a wife and some little children. His father, Frank M. Cornelison, served as the sheriff's force for some time and has lived here for many years, his son having been born and reared here.

It is thought here that the Miss Ward, who was detained as a witness against Cornelison and Mrs. Mayfield, is a Pinkerton detective.

Local detectives did not know Mrs. Mayfield, and efforts to learn something about her were unsuccessful.

POPE SHEPHERD HAS TO PROSECUTE RELATIVE

That the stern mandate of the law must be obeyed, regardless of friendship or blood ties, was proved Wednesday in the criminal court by Assistant Attorney-General T. Pope Shepherd when he had John Connor, a distant relative, arraigned on the charge of felonious assault.

"May it please the court," stated the attorney-general, "I am incompetent to try this case for the reason that this young defendant is a relative of mine. However, I shall state the facts to the court as they are, and, of course, the court will rely upon what I will say."

"The facts are just these," he continued. "There seems to be some ill feeling between the Connors and another family who live on an adjoining farm. My attention was called to the fact that the defendant, during an argument his brother had with a neighbor, went to the house and returned with a shotgun. He did not either try to use the weapon or threaten the other boy with it, but it was a very disorderly piece of business and I didn't think it should go unnoticed by the grand jury."

"The grand jury investigated the case and returned an indictment, with the view of having your honor deliver to this young man a very severe lecture. The carrying of guns that way is a very disorderly piece of business and should be broken up. I wish your honor would just deliver a severe lecture to the defendant and remind him that that sort of business is liable to land him behind prison bars."

Judge McReynolds responded, saying: "Young man, that sort of business will get you in serious trouble and cannot for a moment be tolerated by this court. In the first place you will not only get yourself in trouble, but you will cause somebody's death. I am going to continue this case until the next term of court and have the other boys here and have that kind of conduct stopped."

Connor, who is a well-appearing young man admitted that he was guilty of carrying the gun to the scene of the argument.

NARCOTIC TRUST HEAD DENIED NEW TRIAL

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 28.—Peyton G. Hammers, who was convicted last week in federal court of violating the Harrison anti-narcotic law, was denied a new trial today by Judge Call. Judge Call has not yet sentenced Hammers, but will do so today or tomorrow, it was said.

Dr. Riley C. Hammers, brother of the defendant, is a well-known car repairer with the Norfolk & Western railroad, Roanoke, Va.

W. A. Hilley, who died Wednesday afternoon at his home in the East Side district, after a long illness, has been sent to Sugar Valley, Ga., for funeral and interment. Surviving the deceased are his wife, two sons, Carl and William; four daughters, Mrs. Mabel English, Misses Margaret and Alice Hilley, of Chattanooga, and Mrs. H. F. Hagan, of Jacksonville, Fla. Mr. Hilley was a member of the Order of Railway Conductors. He was a Mason.

Mrs. Addie Millwood.

The funeral of Mrs. Addie Millwood, aged 48, who died Wednesday night at her home on Walden's ridge, was held from the Sawyer Presbyterian church, on the ridge, Thursday afternoon at 2 P. M. Rev. S. Short officiated, and the interment took place in the Millwood cemetery.

SAMMY'S FOOD MONEY RAISED

Now Allowed 41.3 Cents Per Man Each Day—Cooks Save for Feasts.

Private Sammy's food allowance has arisen a cent for the ensuing month. Food for the United States army in America now stands at 41.3 cents per soldier. A steady rise of about a cent per month has been in progress since last October. There is some hope of it remaining stationary for a few months as spring comes in. This allotment gives about 13 cents for each man's meal. Here is what Sammy gets:—Fried sausages, oatmeal, milk, bread, butter and coffee.

Dinner—Roast beef, sweet potatoes, creamed parsnips, sweet peas, peaches, bread and butter, cocoa.

Supper—Baked salmon, macaroni, cheese, apple sauce, bread and butter, coffee.

The extraordinary part of this is none of the companies really use their entire food allowance. Their cook continually endeavors to cut under this allowance, save a cent or so on every man, in order that the soldiers may have a reserve food fund for big dinners on Christmas and holidays.

For instance, one of the sanitary companies now has $400 in its holiday reserve. A soldier who had seen service in Mexico told the reporter of a Christmas dinner that cost $4.67 per man.

Here is a price sheet for Friday, showing the price at which Uncle Sam sells material to his army kitchens:

Beef, 17c; granulated sugar, 7c; prunes, 8c; flour, 5c, and pure wheat bread, 4c per pound. This is enough to suggest the scale of prices.

These low prices are obtained through the military commissary at Lytle. Almost the entire Fort Oglethorpe supply flows through Lytle, but large amounts are bought in Chattanooga.

Besides the actual saving on food, the army receives as a contribution to its mess fund a certain per centage on all goods sold through the army commissaries, on the pool rooms, and photographic business that is carried on in the cantonments. Before the government took over the shoe repairing of the regiments, the shoe makers used to be required to contribute to the mess.

Sanitary Kitchen in Stable.

The sanitary corps, which issued the above appetizing menu, has its kitchen mess hall and barracks all together in an old cavalry stable.

It was an odd sight to see big stalls running at full blast in the stable. Where once was a harness room, now stands a storeroom, filled with meat, breads, canned goods and big refrigerators. Everything is as clean as an icicle and smells like Christmas.

Bread is cooked in the big camp ovens six loaves at a time. The coffee pot is a huge zinc barrel on one end of the range. Only coffee and cocoa is served. Tea is unavailable as it grows strong in large quantities.

JEAN PICARD TO DELIVER LECTURE

There will be an address Friday morning by Lieut. Jean A. Picard at the Y. W. C. A. hostess house at which the wives of the officers and young men in training will be invited to hear with anyone else who may be interested in the lecture.

Lieut. Jean A. Picard was in America when the war started, and returned immediately to France, where he served for more than two years in the infantry and in the hospital corps. He was at the Battle of the Marne, at First Battle of Ypres, and in Alsace. Being disabled, he came back to America, where he has obtained great success as a writer and speaker, receiving enthusiastic endorsement from the army camps in which he has spoken under the auspices of the war work council of the Y. W. C. A.

The general subject of his address is "What Are You Going to Find When You Go to France," and he endeavors to adapt his speech to the audience, making it more or less technical, as desired, and giving opportunity for questions at the close. His ordinary address lasts about forty-five minutes, not including the time for questions.

He was in the Thirtieth regiment of infantry, the history of which goes back to the fifteenth century, and which was one of the regiments serving under Rochambeau in the American Revolution.

PRINCESS RADZIWIILL COMING FOR LECTURE

Princess Radziwiill, who is to lecture on Russia at the Junior High school tomorrow afternoon and evening, will arrive at 11:30 tomorrow morning and will be met by a committee representing the Parent-Teachers' association and the Civic league. At 2:30 she will deliver a lecture for children only at the Junior High, and Commissioner Huffaker has authorized the schools in the vicinity to close one hour early in order to afford the children an opportunity to hear and meet the princess.

At 8 p. m. Princess Radziwiill will lecture to adults only (all over 16 years of age) in the Junior High school auditorium, and following the lecture she will invite questions from the floor regarding conditions in Russia today. At the close of the questionaire an informal reception will occur, affording those who desire an opportunity of meeting the princess.

The commanding officers at Fort Oglethorpe, Camp Forrest and the other camps, together with their staffs, have been invited to attend the evening lecture as the guests of the Junior High Civic league.

The lecture promises to be one of the most interesting events of the season in Chattanooga, and has already aroused widespread interest.

POTATOES CAME HIGH TO THIS NEGRO

Joe Clark, a negro, will not steal any more potatoes very soon, as he was arrested Tuesday by Allen Parker for taking some potatoes from the Chattanooga Feed company and when he was searched his pockets contained about one gallon of peas. Clark will remember this a long while. Clark was brought before Judge J. M. Noble Wednesday evening and was fined $10 and costs and was later sent to the Orchard Knob workhouse.

CONSTRUCTION WORK ON CANTONMENTS IN CHICKAMAUGA PARK COMPLETED

Snare & Triest, contractors of New York, have about completed their work constructing cantonments and connected buildings in Chickamauga park.

Summarized, this company has placed in the park 1,640 buildings, at a round cost of $3,000,000.

When asked what was the greatest engineering problem with which he had to contend, T. J. Litter, chief engineer of Snare & Triest, stated it was the problem of sewage.

It was impossible to place the cantonments close together and simplify the sewage problem. This was because of a rule of the national park that forbade the cutting of a single tree. Therefore the engineers were forced to build wherever an open space presented itself. The result was the cantonments are spread over the entire park.

The road connecting the different barracks is two miles long. All the barracks cover a space of about 2,500 acres. This is the largest area of any camp in America.

Snare & Triest began this work on May 15, 1917, and completed it Thursday. They have constructed every building on the grounds except one-half of one cantonment at the R. O. T. C. At the height of their contract they had a weekly payroll of $200,000, and 4,000 men were drawing wages.

A recent rumor stated that the Snare & Triest company is withdrawing from Fort Oglethorpe because its profits had receded. According to the statement of Mr. Grimes, of that firm, Mr. Grimes said that he merely had a telegram from the cantonment construction department in Washington, authorizing them to take over future work in the park.

Mr. Litter said there was a profit-limiting regulation which kept profits of any one company at a quarter of a million but that Snare & Triest had not yet reached the quarter-million mark and that was not the reason of the company removal.

"In fact," said Mr. Litter, "it is not sure that Snare & Triest are going to leave the park. We may get more contracts. However, just at present it looks as if we are going to move, because there are no more contracts in sight."

The whole situation is up in the air," said Mr. Litter, "because Maj. Zoller, who is in charge of cantonment construction in Washington, has been detailed for foreign service and future work is uncertain."

The next big extension, he said, would be the post hospital, and this is contingent on what sort of demand is made on Oglethorpe by the soldiers in Europe.

"It is my belief," said the engineer, "that the whole building policy is waiting just now on the development in the European war that June will bring forth."

June's battlefront will tell what we will need here in Greenleaf and how much we will need."

Future alterations, additions and repairs in Fort Oglethorpe will be constructed by Park & Grimes, a local construction company, who will succeed Snare & Triest, according to the statement of Mr. Grimes, of that firm. Mr. Grimes said that he merely had a telegram from the cantonment construction department in Washington, authorizing them to take over future work in the park.

EXAMINATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN OFFERS EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY

Physical examinations in the public schools will be conducted by Dr. Emma Wheat Gilmore, the well-known Chicago doctor, who is now in the city, being connected with the U. S. public health service. Preliminary examinations have already begun in the city schools and will be closely followed up by a most thorough examination of every pupil.

Dr. Gilmore has been directing the examination of the female restaurant employees since coming to Chattanooga. However, C. P. Knight, passed assistant surgeon of the U. S. public health service, has been assigned to the examination of the physical examination in the schools. The work along school hygiene has been organized by Dr. Knight, who is a specialist in school hygiene.

Dr. Treadway has made arrangements with Judge Cummings and other county officials to carry out this work into the Hamilton county schools. The whole object of this work as explained by Dr. Knight is to control the spread of communicable diseases.

It is understood that some of the parents of the school children have expressed their disapproval of the proposed physical examination. The officials both of the United States public health service and the local department of public health have every confidence in Dr. Gilmore and feel that both the parents and pupils should consider this a great opportunity.

If a child is found to have defective eyesight, the doctor will diagnose the case and send the report to the child's parents or guardian. If the child examined is not able to take the prescribed treatment, the parents will be advised to send them to the health clinic in the municipal building, where they will receive the proper treatment.

$7,000 Every Month.

Including the Red Cross division, Dr. Knight has estimated that the United States public health service, of which he is director, is spending in the Chattanooga zone approximately $7,000 monthly. This includes the entire expense account, besides medicine, equipment, vaccination points, salaries, transportation, etc. In other words, the department's expense account for one month represents the sum Commissioner Huffaker has asked the city commissioners for with which to conduct the health work or to enlarge the department. Commissioner Huffaker is very much interested in the enlargement of the health department for this city and is doing everything in his power to have the force increased.

Passed Assistant Surgeon Knight will go to Atlanta, Ga., Saturday night to attend a conference with Surgeon-General Blue of the United States public health service. There will be a large health conference in Atlanta Sunday, March 11, at which Surgeon-General Blue will be present, together with Sanitary Engineer J. A. A. Le Prince, who had charge of the work at the Panama canal.

NEGRO STEALS HAM AND GETS THIRTY DAYS

Women Fail to Appear in Criminal Court—Nathan Ginsburg Case Continued.

Alex Walker, colored, "took low" and went south with it Thursday in criminal court when he pleaded guilty to stealing ham from Swift & Co., and was sentenced for thirty days in the workhouse. Walker was a driver employed by Swift & Co., and it is claimed that while in that capacity he stole several hams. The hams were located at the home of Joe and Sam Terrell, two other negroes. The officers first learned of the theft when Detectives Paradiso and Peace went to the home of the Terrells to investigate the murder of an old negro man, Charles Boush, who was later arrested by the officers and is now in jail charged with the murder. His trial is set for Friday.

Willie Johnson, a young colored boy, was given sixty days for picking up a pair of shoes he could not wear and that did not belong to him. He tried to deny it, but the proof was not of the camouflage style and it could be plainly seen that Willie was guilty of the offense laid at his door.

Freddie Chambers, Baby Taylor, Ella Taylor, James Moore and Hazel Wellington were arraigned for vagrancy. The women were all arrested by Officers Brown and Light and the provost guard as the result of a crusade against women. When their names were called Thursday it was stated that one of them had left town by order of the court, two others were in the workhouse and another was in the hospital. However, forfeitures and capias were issued against each of them who did not answer.

Nathan Ginsburg was arraigned on the charge of embezzlement and his case was continued awaiting for some proof he claimed he wanted. Attorney D. B. Vance, Jr., who represents Ginsburg, stated that he felt that the proof his client wanted to get was very material and asked for a continuance on those grounds. Ginsburg is charged by R. T. Wright, Sr., with collecting rent and then failing to account for it in full. Several of the misdemeanor cases were disposed of by the court.

MONEY FLOWS IN AT TRUSTEE'S OFFICE

Money, money everywhere, but not a cent to spend, is the way the county trustee's office impresses a visitor. The desks in the office have the appearance of a mint. Several times Wednesday, Trustee Joe Cliff and his deputies were forced to empty the cash drawers and to pile the money on the table. Everybody seems to have money and be anxious to vote.

As the result of Wednesday's business the trustee deposited $21,494.67 from real estate tax collections and $1,244 from the poll tax. Tuesday the trustee deposited $7,000 as the result of tax collections. Thursday is the last day real estate or poll taxes can be paid without also paying a penalty. Friday a poll tax receipt will cost $2.50 a penalty of 50 cents being attached.

LIQUOR CAMOUFLAGED IN SOFT DRINK BOTTLES

Wiley Patterson, a well-known South Chattanooga, was fined $50 and the costs in the criminal court this morning on the charge of selling whisky. Two anonymous letters written Judge McReynolds seemed to have been the means of Wiley's getting in trouble. The letters were written by a woman, who stated that whisky was being sold in soft drink bottles at Wiley Patterson's soft drink stand on Whiteside street. The judge sent Officer Kirklin and Luther Carter to Wiley's place, and there they found four bottles filled with whisky. Wiley told the officers he had the whisky for his own use and that after he had been on a spree he had to have whisky to keep going.

Wiley's physician was in court and stated that after Wiley got on a drunk it was dangerous for him to be without whisky. Judge McReynolds said there was no proof that Wiley was selling the whisky, and as he seemed to have been only technically guilty, he would just let him off with a fine.

PACKERS WANTED TO SEND "CHECK" MEAT

Grade Not Usually Included in Army Bids—Other Tangles Treated.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Various angles of packers' activities were treated today by Francis J. Hone, counsel for the federal trade commission in its investigation of the meat packing industry. Letters were read telling of efforts made by Cudahy & Co. to obtain permission from the food administration to include "check meat" in deliveries on army contracts. This meat ordinarily is not included in the grade on which bids are asked by the army.

Conferences of representatives of Armour, Swift and Morris with Col. Knicker, of the Chicago depot of the quartermaster's department, relative to changing the grades of bacon so that backs and shoulders might be included in army bacon, were also mentioned.

The letter said that such a change in the bacon specifications was necessary because of the vast amount of meat which must be used. It is suggested that samples of the bacon be made up for submission to the federal authorities.

MAY BE MEN WHO CUT SOLDIER

Armed Cap-a-Pie and With Several Suits On, Two Men Are Held.

Two men giving their names as Thomas Carden and Burt Long were arrested by Deputies Joe and Walter Clark in East Chattanooga Thursday afternoon on charges of carabking and larceny and carrying pistols. The information is that they were attempting to break into a car when the officers took them in charge. They will be investigated in connection with the assault on Charles Carden, an unassigned private at Fort Oglethorpe, whose throat was cut from ear to ear a few days ago. The accused men were found to be wearing two suits of underwear each, over which they wore two suits of clothing. They wore two suits of overalls over all the other clothing. One of the men is said to have been wearing a government undershirt, while one had on a suit of government underwear. Besides, one of them is said to have had a government revolver scabbard. It is understood that the men had an automobile and two girls were in the car at the time they were apprehended. The men are said to have had two revolvers apiece.

FORMER BURSAR OF VANDERBILT DEAD

Wils Williams, Brother of Judge Sam Williams, Dies in Austin, Tex.

Nashville, Feb. 28.—News was received today of the death at Austin, Tex., last night of Wils Williams, for many years bursar of Vanderbilt university and at the time of his death register of the University of Texas. He was widely known over the south.

Mr. Williams, after leaving Nashville, became bursar of the University of Texas at Austin. He was a brother of Judge Sam Williams, a former member of the supreme court of Tennessee.
